Garden Voyage Botanicals Unveils New Brand at IGC East 2015 Show

Fragrant soaps feature all-natural ingredients and packaging designed to appeal to gardeners

Hockessin, DE August 18th, 2015 — Gardeners can now savor the scents of summer all year long with new, all-natural soaps from Garden Voyage Botanicals.

These all-natural soaps are American-made, crafted with the highest-quality ingredients including pure essential oils of lavender and peppermint, preservative free and are triple milled to last longer.

The brain-child of Vince McIntosh, Garden Voyage Botanicals launched the new product line at the IGC East Show in Baltimore in August. According to McIntosh, the botanical soaps are superior quality yet affordable.

All the soaps are made with certified sustainable palm oil and a generous amount of Shea butter, producing a rich creamy lather that leaves the skin feeling silky clean and rehydrated. The Gardener's soap features cranberry seeds and walnut shell powder to naturally achieve an effective, low-abrasive scrub.

"The Garden Voyage Botanicals brand is a collection of soaps for the eco-minded consumer seeking natural, pure ingredients," McIntosh says. "In addition, the packaging in our Birdbath Series features a garden scene with birdbath and various birds that should have special appeal for gardeners."

A special holiday collection of soaps features a three pack of festive Peppermint, Bayberry and Evergreen soaps. Dubbed the Noël Soap Project, these gift sets are packed in a vocational training facility that employs people with disabilities in Delaware. They are perfect for stocking stuffers, teachers' presents and hostess gifts.

IGC retailers can contact McIntosh at 800-234-9294 to inquire about supplying Garden Voyage Botanicals soaps.
